

IS FOR FUNDING

The state of public education funding in Washington

THE GREATER good CAMPAIGN

THE ONLY 'PARAMOUNT DUTY' IN WASHINGTON'S CONSTITUTION

Washington is the only state that makes K-12 education its paramount duty. Yet it has completely failed in this duty.

In 2012, Washington State Supreme Court unanimously ruled that "The State has failed to meet its duty ... by consistently providing school districts with a level of resources that falls short of the actual costs of the basic education program."

Basic education is vital to creating successful students, employees, and contributors to our community and economy.

ZIP CODE SHOULD NOT DETERMINE EDUCATION QUALITY

Reliance on local levies to fund basic education has resulted in inequity across Washington state in teacher salaries, school supplies, programming and, ultimately, student success.

Levies come from property taxes. Some districts don't have a single levy, while others have up to 38 percent in additional funding. Those districts have drastically different opportunities for students.

The solution must result in fair, quality education for all students in all 295 districts across the state.

WE'RE USING LEVIES ALL WRONG

Local levies (education taxes) were intended to fund "extras" — programming not covered under basic education. Instead, they've been used to fill the gap left by the state, paying for things like textbooks and the cost of keeping schools open. The result is inequity that's hurting our students.

WASHINGTON CAN DO BETTER

The state constitution does not guarantee outcomes. But our kids' futures require them. Fully funding basic education is just the beginning. Washington also needs to fulfill its promise to prepare our students for graduation, for college and for the workforce.

We have a deadline.

Washington has until 2018 to fully fund basic education. The state needs to take action now to give our kids the best chance for success.

- LEVY REFORM
- MORE FUNDING
- TRANSPARENCY
- ACCOUNTABILITY
- MEASURABLE RESULTS
